CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
 Member of Congress,
 Seventh Ohio District

On Saturday the Congress had as its guests the fifteen outstanding heroes of the United Nations, who are now making a tour of the principal American cities. On Monday King George II of Greece, who has been an official guest of the President, visited Congress and made a short address to the House. King George stayed with his troops until the very last during the Axis invasion of Greece and Crete, and barely escaped with his life.

Washington had another distinguished guest for the week over Memorial Day, but the general public knew nothing of the visit until a few days ago. The visitor was Commissar for Foreign Affairs Molotov of Russia, who arrived at the White House May 20th and left June 4th. Following his return to Russia, the President last week told of the conferences held with Commissar Molotov, and announced that a mutual understanding had been reached between Russia, Great Britain and the United States for the opening of a Second Front in Europe during the year of 1942. The announcement was of the utmost importance, for it means that an American Expeditionary Force will be fighting in Europe within the next few weeks or months, and that undoubtedly most of the American soldiers now in England, Ireland, and Iceland will take part in the invasion of the European continent.

Detailed reports received in Washington as to the actual happenings in the great sea battle in the Pacific off the Midway Islands, show that the American forces inflicted a most disastrous defeat upon the enemy. The Japanese fleet suffered heavy damages with the loss of thousands of lives. American losses were exceedingly small.

Base pay for enlisted men in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard will be $50.00 per month beginning with June 1st, as a result of the Senate finally agreeing to the House figures in the Pay Bill. The measure went to the President last week, was promptly signed, and is now a law. Legislation for government allotments to dependent wives, children, parents, brothers and sisters of men in the fighting forces has been practically completed and will become a law within a few days. The men in the armed services of the United States are now the highest paid in all the world, while their dependents will be better cared for than those of any other fighting men.

Late last week the House refused to accept a Senate amendment to the Agriculture Appropriation Bill which would have permitted the sale of government owned wheat for feed purposes at eighty-five percent of the parity price for corn. Members from farm states pointed out that the adoption of such an amendment would permit government owned wheat to be sold at nearly forty percent below the parity price for wheat, and would ruin both wheat and corn prices. The House also rejected appropriation increases of more than one hundred and fifty million dollars previously added by the Senate.

After a real battle in the House the W. P. A. Appropriation Bill, carrying a total new appropriation of two hundred and eighty million dollars for the fiscal year beginning July 1st, was passed late Friday. An effort to reduce the appropriation to one hundred and twenty million was defeated by only four votes. The Republican Minority, aided by a number of conservative Democrats, endeavored to recommit the bill for the reduction of one hundred million dollars in the amounts appropriated and for amendments to liquidate the W. P. A. and to turn over the administration of all relief to the various states, and their political subdivisions, with the Federal government making grants to local relief agencies. The motion was defeated by a narrow margin. For the present year ending June 30th, the sum of nine hundred and fifteen million dollars was appropriated for W. P. A. purposes, of which fifty-six million remains unexpended and will be carried over for use next year in addition to the two hundred and eighty million dollars just appropriated.

Motion Pictures For Housewives

The film, "Proof of the Pudding" will be shown at the Cozy Theatre, Tuesday, June 23 at 3 P. M. The part that food plays in human life has been dramatized in this picture.

Ten minutes spent in viewing this picture will convince the housewife that daily meal planning is really a highly specialized type of service to her family. Food is not the only factor in good health, but it is an important one. If her husband does in his chair every evening, it may be that his diet is at fault. Perhaps her son was not born to be overweight or her daughter to be frail and undernourished. It may be that the ailments of her family are due to dietary faults and deficiencies.

Planning meals that will do the right thing for each member of the family sounds like a complicated task. But the picture has an answer to this question also. In fact, the matter is put squarely up to each one of us in this film, which says, "No management of any zoo would last very long if it fed its animals as thoughtlessly as the great majority of us feed ourselves."

This picture is presented by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., in connection with the U. S. Public Health Service.

"Meat and Romance" a sound motion picture covering meat will be also shown, sponsored by the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

"Meat and Romance" presents authoritative information on four major phases of the subject of meat, which are of immediate concern to the consumer—(1) selection, (2) cooking, (3) carving, (4) nutrition.

The facts about meat are brought out, as Peggy and Bill Allen, the new lymeds, a physician, and his sister Sue, a famous home economist.

Peggy is the typical young housewife, inexperienced but eager to learn. Bill, a young doctor following in his father's professional footsteps, knows more about the nutritive value of meat than he does about carving.

Then there is the friendly neighborhood retail meat dealer, Mr. McCabe, who gives Peggy a fund of information about the great variety of meat cuts available on the market, and explains how the law of supply and demand affects meat prices.

The "Pete Smith" specialty entitled "Barbecued" tell all about the intricacies of the new epicurean fad. Here is a tip to housewives who can think of many things that they would rather do than slave over a hot kitchen stove in the summer days.

The picture "From Moo To You" is also presented by the Borden Milk Co., showing the values of milk in the diet for the best of health.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Nelson Creswell of the Cozy Theatre all these films are shown as a part of the Nutrition class sponsored by Red Cross and taught by Mrs. Donald Kyle. All are invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

WHERE IS NEW DEAL BOND PATRIOTISM?

While Ohio or the mention of the name of the state in New Deal circles in Washington usually causes the administration leaders to turn up their noses, little credit goes to Ohio for having over subscribed her May quota of war bonds and defense stamps. We read where Illinois, another state not in good favor in Capital quarters, boasts the bond sale was over-subscribed 130 per cent.

It is well to compare these two states with New York state, noted as the hub or the birthplace of the Roosevelt New Deal. New York city is supposed to be the money market for the nation. But what have the residents of that state that voted so strong for Roosevelt to show for their part in the nation-wide bond sale for May? The bond sale only amounted to 85.3 of the quota. What a record? New York, the home of the President of the United States as well as Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Hopkins, Perkins and a long list of New Dealers.

Much has been said about isolationists and the unpatriotic attitude of the mid-western people. New York may have most vocal and self advertised mayor in LaGuardia who has pulled hundreds of millions of dollars out of the treasury for WPA play places and objects of show at the expense of the nation, we hear little about the New York war bond sale, either from the mayor's office of the largest city or even the White House. Here is something for the New Deal "Gestapo" to investigate.

NEW DEAL 'GESTAPO' PICKS SPIES

You may not know it but Greene county is said to have one or more of the New Deal "gestapo" spies snooping in church, social, business and political circles. Not only this county but the entire state has been organized on a volunteer basis to turn over all such remarks, statements or criticisms of the New Deal to Washington for investigation.

John A. Lloyd, state superintendent of Insurance, in an address before the Women's Republican Club of Ohio, in Columbus, exposed the Nazi method adopted by Ohio Democratic political leaders. The speaker stated he had the name of the Democrat that heads up the local prototype of the secret spying organizations of Hitler and Stalin.

Supt. Lloyd said enough in his recent speech to draw fire from Washington without previous notice. Continuing he said: "This fact must always be remembered: The crowd in power in these war times is the same one which bungled the simple problems of peace. The bombs which fell at Pearl Harbor made them neither omnipotent nor omniscient. If they were not winning the victories of peace, should we, the people whose country they operate, expect them to be perfect in meeting the more intricate problems of war? They, in turn, must not forget that this still is our country and that we have our say in its management."

The Party in power has no copyright upon the Constitution and no patent upon the Stars and Stripes. All of us have a solemn duty to see that the sacred document is unsullied and that the old flag never touches ground."

NATION'S FOOD CZAR

The nation's food czar—Claude R. Wickard, of Indiana, secretary of agriculture.

The powers of his nine-man committee—to determine civilian, military and foreign food requirements and it has authority to step up or limit the domestic production of foods as well as the importation of foods and agricultural materials from which foods are derived.

Which means in simple language that Secretary Wickard has complete authority to order every farmer to raise the crops he believes needed for the duration of the war.

His authority will supercede the AAA, but it is probable that he will use the AA organization to carry out the program. Every farmer in America is willing to make sacrifice to win the war. What many have been objecting to have been the methods used by the AAA to force compliance by adding excessive penalties and by paying out a large doler.

Refusal to comply with orders of Wickard under his new authority would fall in the category of the traitor, subject to such penalties as the committee might impose in keeping with the laws. Wickard and his committee have a patriotic nation of farmers that will back them, but the farmer will still insist that he knows best what crop his soil is most adapted to, that he wants to follow the crop rotation that is best suited for his acreage and that he does not need to be paid for cutting down acreage or for increasing production. The farmer will expect to receive for his crops prices that will be at par with the machinery and farm needs that he must purchase. He will insist that the overhead of AAA committeemen be slashed and that volunteer workers supplant the paid men now in the AAA service.—Indiana Farmers Guide.

REGENT

Rita Hayworth, as she looks in the picture, and Victor Mature, as America's favorite crooner, in "My Gal Sal," a technicolor hit.

Hold on to your hearts boys, Rita's back in town. Yes, it's Rita Hayworth, America's Inspiration Girl, whose picture started a one week engagement at the Regent theater in 26th Century Fox's Technicolor musical "My Gal Sal." And an inspiration she certainly is.

Rita's starred with Victor Mature, John Sutton and Carol Landis, in this gay and up-to-the-minute story of the life of Paul Breese, famous composer of "My Gal Sal." "On the Banks of the Wabash" and a hundred and one other hit tunes. The picture has been produced lavishly with nothing spared to make it an outstanding film musical, and Director Irving Cummings has seen to it that everything fits neatly into place so that the film is geared to delight all moviegoers.

The story deals with the trials of Mature as Breese, during his struggle to get his songs published and played. His inspiration is Rita, and what better inspiration does any man need? The cast of excellent supporting players including James Gleason, Phil Silvers, Walter Catlett, Mona Marie and Frank Orth round out the huge cast.

The script by Selton I. Miller, Darrell Ware and Karl Tunberg presents the story in excellent fashion as gleaned from the material gathered by Theodore Dreiser, brother of Paul Dreiser. There are also some very beautiful new numbers in the film, including "Here You Are," "On the Gay White Way" and others.

The battle of and for rubber is on. It is more of a battle than most citizens are aware of. The campaign for scrap rubber is one of the most work-while movements inaugurated since the war. Unlike the aluminum scandal there is prospect the public can get something for their scrap if they desire it besides a lot of dealers over the country taking a profit. The price of one cent a pound is about five dollars a ton over the prevailing market for many months. The motorist that does not lend support to this movement is but hastening the day when he will walk or stay at home.

There is another battle over synthetic rubber. It is this battle that has held up the manufacture of the same kind of rubber Germany is using successfully on war equipment. What process to use and who is to control it is the present day battle. Synthetic rubber is mixed with New Deal politics. Using a street term the rubber situation is a mess. If the scrap campaign does not turn up several hundred thousand tons of old rubber it is hard to tell what the future will be for transportation.

There are three different methods known at present as to the manufacture of synthetic rubber. One is from oil products. Another is from alcohol. The third is from corn or wheat, the latter being best known of the grains at this time. There are millions of dollars at stake in this rubber battle. Politicians are lined up for one of the three methods. The New Deal holds the whip hand. Jesse Jones, multimillionaire Texas oil banker and Democrat, holds a powerful grip for the oil interests. The White House leans to the alcohol method. Most of the Republican members and a few western and southwestern Democrats from grain states favor the wheat method to consume the excess crop in the nation. The AAA cannot come out for the latter method due to the fact the New Deal dictators have not yet given the Communist crowd the "green signal."

Just how simple the use of wheat as well as some other products for synthetic rubber is possible, a chemist with a small demonstrating chemical outfit appeared before a House committee last week and made rubber in the presence of the members in about one hour's time. A bell was made that when bounced on the floor sounded four feet over the head of the chemist. Will the motorist walk or ride?

A Republican isolationist, one before Pearl Harbor who opposed the administration war propaganda, was an unpatriotic citizen. From the New Deal standpoint of judging patriotism a Democrat or Roosevelt follower that stood out of Congress and in that legislative body on the same platform as the Republican isolationist, "mum" was the word. New Dealers and Democratic publishers always found space and time for oratory attacking the first class and picturing all such as unpatriotic but never a word about Democrats that held to the same view.

The best example of this situation is in Dayton where Gov. Cox's News editorial columns have been as fire for months against Cong. Fish, Sen. Taft, Lindbergh, and hundreds of others that could be mentioned but the News never uttered one word of criticism against its own Congressman Holbrook who voted in Congress consistently along with the so-called isolationists. Cong. Holbrook in a flag-day speech Sunday seems to have been reformed in as much as election time is nearing. It remained for the Dayton Herald Tuesday to call attention to the fact Holbrook was now standing with both Republican and Democratic isolationists for winning the war. Before December 7th it was a terrible thing to speak against the building of the war program. That it was terrible where a Republican spoke his views in a so-called "democracy" not yet in war. Evidently the Dayton News must be elated over the recent conversation of its own Congressman Holbrook, elected on the Democratic ticket. It is not expected the News would concede reformation of a Republican that would not swallow the propaganda being handed out of paid headquarters in Washington before December 7th. Both the Herald and News might interview their present Congressmen on gasoline rationing and which brand of synthetic rubber he favors. The Third District motorist certainly have a right to know whether they are to walk or ride the next two years.

Attorney John V. Glibney, a Republican lawyer, Xenia, enlists in the most important division of government service towards winning the war—aviation. George H. Smith and Homer Henrie, both Democratic patriots prefer to carry the "chief-case" in the cause of "democracy and unity."

Indiana physicians are up in arms over the charge of disloyalty leveled at the nation's physicians by Paul V. McNutt, head of the Federal Security Administration, in his address last week. The physicians brand the accusations as false and McNutt's threats as un-American, and that he owes the nation a public retraction. McNutt was a former Democratic governor of Indiana.

The commission paid war contractor for government contracts broke up this week. Weeks ago Charles West, former Ohio Democratic congressman, holder of numerous jobs under the New Deal, settled his suit claiming a commission of $287,000 from the Empire Ordnance Corporation for securing war contracts amounting to some 70 million dollars. He admitted having been paid $18,000 in commission when the suit was filed. The suit was settled out of court and the amount of full payment not made public.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard this week issues a statement that the 1943 wheat program will be announced soon. He intimates a reduction in acreage due to the present large crop. It now looks like special payments might be made to all who plant only such crops as the department orders. This is turning the AAA program around and paying to grow crops. Before only wheat farmers that had 15 acres or more could get in on the gravy. This was a sticking point when the AAA case was argued before U. S. Supreme Court. The first AAA plan was simply bribery while the proposal to pay everyone on the same basis to grow crops is an open-faced contract. The next feature that puzzled the court was the "big-stick" held over the head of farmers if they did not comply with orders whether it suited them or not.

Two Democrats File For Nomination

The Herald learns through the Clark County Board of Elections that petitions have been filed by two Democrats seeking the congressional nomination at the August primary.

Carl H. Ehl, Springfield, and Attorney George H. Smith, Spring Valley, have each filed, but the former has filed a protest against the board recognizing the Smith petition. The petition was not on a regular printed form but mimeographed. Ehl claims irregularity also on the ground that the date which Smith was sworn in declaring his candidacy, does not make the date of the petition legal. Most of the petitions were from Clark and Fayette counties and as far as we can learn none from Greene county.

In as much as the Democrats are in a bitter factional war in Clark county, it is thought Smith represents the Groebler faction and Ehl the Sheehan faction. Smith at present is supposed to be at Miami Beach, Fla., in the aviation service. Greene county Democrats claim to know nothing about the petitions of either candidate.

The Board of Elections will hear the Ehl protest Monday.

RAINS DAMAGE WHEAT

OVER MOST OF OHIO

While rains have been welcome to farmers for pasture and corn as well as supplying streams and raising the water table, wheat and barley have suffered a heavy loss in this section of the state according to all reports.

Both wheat and barley are down not to raise against which means rust will form and probably clover smothered out. It is said much of the barley is turning sour due to wet weather and no sunshine. Corn has grown and so have the weeds due to the fact farmers could not cultivate the wet ground.

RUBBER CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

The local rubber scrap campaign is under way and James Bailey of the Standard Station reports better than 500 pounds received the first four days. The Boy Scouts will have a part in the campaign as well as other filling stations.

Mr. Carl Richards, who is connected with the Quartermaster's Dept. at Brownsville, Texas, a veteran of the First World War, visited here last week with his father and brother Mr. A. E. Richards. Later Mr. Richards with his father visited friends in West Virginia for several days.

Mrs. J. Lloyd Conrath entertained members of the Contract Bridge Club at the Blue Moon, Dayton, along with a few guests to complete the tables, Monday afternoon. A dessert course was served. The Blue Moon is under the management of Miss Blanch Turnbull, formerly of this place.

Mr. R. P. McLean of Dayton, former resident of this place, visited here Wednesday. He has just returned from Florida where he spent the winter. He says there is no tourist trade and that the interior towns are suffering for business. Few hope for any great amount of tourist trade even this winter with the gasoline and tire situation as it is and with bombing of freight ships within sight of the coast towns.

WHAT TO DO IN AN AIR RAID

1. KEEP COOL

Above all, keep cool. Don't lose your head. Do not crowd the streets; avoid chaos prevent disorder and havoc. You can feel the enemy. It is easy. If planes come over stay where you are. Don't phone unnecessarily. The chance you will be hit is small. It is part of the risk we must take to win this war.

Until an alarm, go about your usual business and recreation in the ordinary way.

Think twice before you do anything. Don't believe rumors—spreading false rumors is part of the enemy's technique. Don't let him take you in.

Know your air-raid warning? In general, it is short blasts or rising and falling pitch, on whistles or horns. The "All clear" is a steady tone for 2 minutes. Watch this paper for description of the local signal. (This is subject to change.)

Await official information before taking any action. When the Air Raid Warden comes to your home, do what he tells you. He is for your protection. He is your friend.

He will help you do your part to whip the enemy. We can do it. We will do it, if we stay calm and cool and strong and alert.

The fifth draft registration is announced for Saturday, June 27 and Tuesday, June 30, for all who were born on or after Jan. 1, 1922 and on or before June 30, 1924, and who have not registered.

Every warehouse and paper mill that uses old papers is overloaded at present and the price of this paper is so low there is now little sale for it. The retail and wholesale markets for merchandise that requires boxes and cartons has dropped due to consumer consumption thus slowing up orders for the paper mills. Mills making cardboard are the first to feel the effect of slower retail merchandising.

WOOLLARD-WILLIAMSON

NUPTIALS SUNDAY P. M.

IN WASHINGTON C. H.

The marriage of Miss Janice Woollard, Washington C. H., to Mr. Miron Williamson, took place Sunday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church in that city, at four-thirty o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Walter S. Kilpatrick, president of Cedarville College, reading the double ring service. He was assisted by Dr. J. R. Oldham, pastor of the Washington church. The ceremony was performed before a bank of white lilies and greenery that decorated the altar.

Mr. Hugh Backenstos, church organist, presented a program of nuptial music, preceding the service and Miss Elizabeth Myler of Xenia, sang "Because" and "Through the Years."

Miss Jeanne Woollard, sister of the bride was maid of honor and the only bride attendant. She wore a dress of aqua chiffon, styled with a fitted bodice with long sleeves, and a long full skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and wore a cluster of yellow roses in her hair.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was lovely in a gown of white marquisette, fashioned with a long, fitted waist, and a floor-length veil, caught to her head with a Juliet cap of braided tulle, and carried a shower bouquet of cream-colored roses with an orchid in the center.

Capt. Everett R. Francis, Newark, O., who was Mr. Williamson's schoolmate at Bowling Green State university, served as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Frederick Woollard, Washington, brother of the bride, and Donald Williamson, Cedarville, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the service forty guests attended a reception at the Woollard home. An ice course was served from a table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and decorated with lilies and other summer flowers.

Mrs. Woollard, mother of the bride, received the guests in a gown of light blue crepe, with white accessories, and Mrs. Ramond T. Williamson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy sheen dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson left Sunday evening on a wedding trip to Chicago. The bride's going away costume was an aqua and white printed sheer crepe, with a matching jacket.

Mrs. Williamson is a graduate of Washington C. H. High School and Ohio State University, where she was a member of Alpha Phi Sorority. For the last two years she has been instructor of home economics at Cedarville High School.

Mr. Williamson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Williamson. He was graduated from Cedarville High School and attended Bowling Green University.

NO FOURTH OF JULY

SHOOTING THIS YEAR

In as much as a new state law prohibits the sale and use of fireworks of various kinds, the Fourth of July this year may be of the quiet order. Moreover, under the federal war-time law no fireworks can be sold or used without a permit from Washington. This applies to old stock carried over and the government expects local officials to enforce the law. Both seller and user can be fined even under the Ohio law.

O. S. U. GRADUATION

A class of 1450 was graduated at Ohio State University's sixty-fifth annual commencement Monday, in the stadium. A week's vacation will then intervene before nearly 8000 students come to the campus June 23 for the summer accelerated program. The graduation class included Joseph J. Kavanagh, bachelor of science in agriculture.

Material for the erection of the Elder Corry barn which was destroyed by fire some weeks ago has been released by the government and work started this week under the direction of Amos Frame.

Washington Letter

meeting, and the appointment of a special committee (of which the writer was named as a member) to represent Congress in connection with proposed nation-wide gasoline rationing. President Roosevelt, after a consultation with committee members, announced that he would take personal charge of endeavoring to settle the gasoline rationing and rubber sharing problems. The President very wisely decided that the general rationing order on gasoline should not be issued until it was first learned how much rubber is actually available in the country, and whether or not such a general rationing order is absolutely necessary to conserve rubber. Within a few days—probably by the time this appears in print—the President is expected to announce a nation-wide campaign for the collection of all scrap rubber. Every citizen in the United States will be asked to do his or her part in salvaging the precious material. The result of the scrap rubber collection campaign will undoubtedly determine the final action to be taken by the President on gasoline rationing. In the meantime, Congressional committees continue their investigation of the whole-rubber situation. Many startling facts are being obtained and rubber will continue one of the chief topics of discussion in public debates during the next few months.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for June 21

THE TASK COMMITTED TO THE DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT: Matthew 28:18-20; Mark 16:15-16; Luke 24:47-48; John 14:22-23. GOLDEN TEXT: Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature. Mark 16:15.

Witnesses of the resurrection—that privilege of the disciples carried with it the responsibility of declaring the good news of completed redemption to all the nations of the earth. In doing so they were destined to meet opposition and unbelief, to feel weariness and to know discouragement. So the Lord, before leaving this world for His present ministry at the Father's right hand (Mark 16:19; Heb. 7:25), prepared them by giving them a divine commission, which they accepted and acted upon with the assurance of His power and blessing. The lesson is summarized in the words, "Go ye" (Matt. 28:19); "They went forth" (Mark 16:20); "He blessed them" (Luke 24:50).

I. "Go Ye" (Matt. 28:18-20). God's plans are never small plans. World evangelization, nothing less, was the goal He had in mind, and to which Christ commissioned this little group of humble folk who were His disciples. It was not only a great commission, but a daring one.

Back of such marching orders there must be authority and power—and Christ had them (v. 18)—all power and all authority. No need to measure or compare, for His is the ultimate and complete authority. This is the One who said, "Come unto me," then, "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men," and who now says, "Go." If we heed one command, should we not absolutely obey the others?

The message is His message, the gospel (Mark 16:15). It is the only message! The witnesses of Christ are not called to educate and civilize the heathen without winning them to Christ. To do so is only to prepare stronger and more skillful enemies of all that we count holy.

But a great program means nothing if it is not carried out; a great commission is only words unless it is accepted and obeyed. We read of the disciples that—

"They went forth" (Mark 16:14-20).

The call and command are given in this passage. The power is made clear and somewhat in detail, but the significant thing is that they actually went forth to preach.

The response of these early Christians was immediate and enthusiastic. Would that such a spirit had characterized the church through all the generations since then, for if it had, the commission would long since have been carried out. Dr. R. A. Torrey has estimated that if everyone in a church of 2,000 were to win one soul a year, and each convert win one soul each year, the world would be evangelized in less than 35 years.

But while on the whole the church has failed, there have been valiant souls all down through its history who have given themselves to the business of soul-winning. With them, as with these of the first century, the secret is ever "The Lord working with them." We read that as He was leaving this earth and His disciples, He lifted up His hands—

III. "And He... Blessed Them" (Luke 24:49-53).

God has always honored those who in faith have obeyed His command. The whole history of missionary endeavor bears eloquent testimony to that fact.

Sometimes we marvel at the success of a great movement, such as that founded by John Wesley. The answer is that God found a man, or a little group of men or women, willing to take Him at His word and step out in earnest purpose to obey Him. "For forty years John Wesley carried on his mission of canvassing for Christ as a parliamentary candidate canvasses for votes in his constituency in the strenuous three weeks before an election" (Arnold's Commentary). Little wonder that with the blessing of Christ upon his work brings joy to many even to this day.

Note that the disciples who had been made sad and despondent by their parting with Christ at Calvary now went away in joy. The joy of the Lord is the strength of the Christian worker. It gives him abundant grace and power in the hour of need and makes him a fruitful servant.

A Warm Soul
I saw once lying side by side in a great workshop, two heads made of metal. The one was perfect; all the features of a noble, manly face came out clear and distinct in their lines of strength and beauty; in the other, scarcely a single feature could be recognized; it was all mangled and spoiled. "The metal had been let grow a little too cool, sir," said the man who was showing it to me. I could not help thinking how true that was of many a form more precious than metal.—Canon Teignmouth Shore.
